

Dear Valued Sealed Air Customer.

As per previous notifications, since the end of 2020 cost for raw materials have continued to rise at unprecedented levels. With further increases being forecasted for raw materials for the remainder of April through May, we are providing advance notice that effective 1st June 2021 Sealed Air will be implementing a price increase on the products listed below.

Please be assured, we have taken significant actions across our business to minimize the effect of numerous increases in operating costs and, to the best of our ability, have offset the variance to avoid full impact of pricing adjustments to our products and service. Despite these efforts, Sealed Air will have to pass along a portion of these increases in polyethylene, polypropylene, paper, and Instapak foam components.

PRODUCTS

AirCap® Products (including converted products) - 3%

Fill-Air® and NewAir® Inflatable Films (including FillTeck™) - 3%

Specialty Foam (including Ethafoam®) - 3%

All orders received prior to May 31st, 2021 for immediate shipment within Sealed Airs published lead times will be honoured at current prices.

As our strategic partner, we hope you can appreciate that market conditions have made these increases necessary and that we have delayed this increase for as long as possible. We also hope that you will take a leading position as you consider your plans to implement this price adjustment across your customer base.

We appreciate your partnership in implementing and communicating this action, and we ask that you address any questions to your local Sealed Air Account Manager:
