Hi John,

I hope you're well. Thank you for placing your new order, unfortunately we are unable to honour your previous price due to raw material cost increases seen by the industry. Since Q4 2020 we have seen over €650 p/tonne cost increases on all of our films, as illustrated by the attached graph. We expect the increases to continue until June/July 2021, where we hope they will plateau, and subsequently begin to decrease again.

As soon as the market softens we will of course immediately look in to reducing any increased prices over this period in line with these expected decreases. I have attached best pricing for this order – please be aware I can only guarantee these until 5pm on 26/03/2021 as we are expecting further increases for next week. Would you like to proceed on this basis?
